This course is taught by Sam Donovan. During his degree, Sam focused on sustainable design techniques such as zero waste pattern drafting, which he used designing his thesis. While at Parsons, he interned for numerous designers and design companies, including Anna Sui, Gap, and Eileen Fisher, where he contributed zero waste designs to the company's cut and sew line.

Immediately upon graduating school, Sam was recruited to participate on Project Runway, where he placed 1st runner-up. He would later compete on an AIIStar edition of the series. Sam has freelanced for Macy's and the Hamburg-based sustainable denim line Bridge & Tunnel, and now designs for private clients. He's excited to work with the burgeoning designers at CATS Academy, and can't wait to see what they can do!
